Walter Family

WALTER FAMILY, which is now numerously represented in this section, has an honorable reputation maintained through several generations of upright and useful citizenship. In the following address, read by Prof. F. C. Bowersox, of Middleburg, Snyder county, at a reunion of the Walter family held in September, 1891, at Middleburg, we find such an interesting and accurate account that we venture to insert it in full:

In seeking to go back, by the traces of recollection, to the period when the first impressions of the pioneers which from the history of the Walter family were made on our minds, we are carried so completely into the scenes of our infancy, that we feel like a child such as old tales tell of, who being lost in a forest tries to find his way back again by the possibly preserved track of a few grains of corn that he chanced to scatter on the ground as he came. To wander in these memories has, however, a pleasure of its own, many pleasant places presenting themselves to stop at, from whence to review with a sweet sadness, through the long vale of past days, some distant, lovely scene, under the soul-hallowed twilight of time — such scenes are peopled with beloved forms, living there before our heart's-eye; but, in reality, long removed from us into an eternal paradise. History, time's great chronicler, breathes with ineffable delight the story of man's advent into the world. Prophecy declares that the seed of Abraham shall be as innumerable as the stars of the firmanent, and the facts prove that the posterity of Jacob Walter, in the present census number hundreds of thousands, and constitute the largest kindred in the United States.

Amid the ice-clad mountains of the kingdom of Wurtemberg, Germany, diversified by the picturesque scenery of the beautiful Rhine, Jacob was born on the 15th day of January, 1729. Being of poor but sturdy parentage, the boy soon learned adversity's sternest lessons, and with a noble aim and honest face, as his only recommendation, we, in fancy, see him leave the humble home to launch out into the temptation and trials of an active life as a tailor's apprentice, content in his chosen occupation, unmindful of his privations, courageous in his conduct, prepossessing in his appearance, he calmly passes from his teens into the glorious morning of manhood's estate. And while no vain ambition racks his brain and destroys his future prospects, he honorably emulates the skill of his fellow-craftsmen, inspiring their confidence and esteem and winning their warmest friendship. Laboring patiently on, he forms new associations, greets new friends and while at some village gathering, or in some humble hamlet, Apollo gently strikes the golden Lyre, Cupid draws his bow, the arrow hits the heart and Jacob Walter is deeply in love with Maria Kauffman. I imagine a short courtship follows, visions of a home fill his thoughts by day and dreams of enduring happiness by night. Proposals are made and accepted, and on the 24th day of July, 1757, the happiest day in his life, Jacob Walter and Maria Kauffman are made one in wedded bliss. Continuing in his trade, he works faithfully to maintain himself and wife and to secure the long-desired home. But ere that happy end is attained, a welcome little visitor appears to gladden the heart of the father and grace the bosom of the mother. But how quickly the picture of earthly opulence is ruined, competition grows greater, the paltry wages earned will scarcely meet the necessary expenditures of his household. No open hand of relief stands ready to help. Great sacrifices must be made; poverty stares him in the face and all seems desolation, when at last, a report, properly authenticated, comes from England to Germany declaring that in America are millions of broad acres to be cultivated, and offering free passage to all families who will go there. Being suddenly seized with a burning desire to immigrate to the New World, Jacob soon secured his passports, agreed to pay his passage in a limited time, and with family and portable possessions, left the endearing scenes of childhood and youth and set sail on Ocean's turbulent waves; after a two-months' voyage they land at Philadelphia, homeless, friendless, penniless and grief-stricken, for far out in the depths of Atlantic's chilling billows, lay the remains of what once was a father's pride and a mother's comfort.

Leaving the din and bustle of the city behind them, they pushed forward to the fertile acres of Lancaster county. Settling there for a time, they soon hear that richer fortunes lie to the northward, and rather liking the adventure promised in a prospecting journey, they accordingly leave Lancaster county, then the western civilization, plunge deeper and deeper still into the gloomy wilderness, never desponding, never complaining until the peaceful shades of a tall white oak tree, standing on the property now possessed by Isaac Swarm, was reached. Under its inviting foliage a small tent was erected, a home once more established, and thousands of acres of land secured under the homestead law then in force. With his gun and axe, Jacob Walter provides for his family. One giant after another kisses the breeze for the last time, then falls at the stroke of the axe, and is soon transformed into a rafter to complete his newly erected log house. The unerring aim of that trusty gun brings down the fleet-footed deer, and the odor of the sweet venison steaks prepared in that humble home render the air redolent with fragrance. Clearing acre after acre, sowing seed after seed, he labored from early morning till the shadows of evening fell, and while vague yearnings of ambition may fail as he grows older in years, and dreamy fancies hang like cloud cities around him, yet the curtain of existence is slowing but surely rising in many-colored splendor and gloom, and the ethereal light of God's love is gilding his horizon, and the music of song is on his path as he walks in glory and in joy behind his plough upon the mountain side.

Time rolled on. Twelve sons and two daughters blessed his union with Maria Kauffman. And, with the additional aid thus raised, he erected the first linseed mill for the manufacture of oil in this section of Pennsylvania. By judicious management he was enabled to keep a small force engaged in cutting down the mighty forest, burning the timber, splitting rails, tilling the soil, manufacturing the oil, while he still found a few spare moments to follow his trade, that of making buckskin pantaloons.

With increased aid came greater wealth, and after harvesting the grain and converting it into cash, one autumn day he started for the village of Reading, perhaps to remove the last and only lien the government held on his thousands of acres. It appears to me, as he mounted the steed at the door of his humble home, while the anxious family gathered round to press their sad farewells, an earnest prayer went up to God to protect those loved ones from hostile hand and restore in safety to their sweet embrace their now departing father. Recognizing the providence of Almighty God in his signal delivery from Indians and wild beasts, he resolves to commemorate his safe return, and to enshrine his memory in the hearts of his children by the presentation of a large Bible, costing $10, to each of his ten living sons, so that, not withstanding the absence of schools, they may be taught the habit of well-directed reading, which, in time, would become a source of the greatest pleasure and self-improvement, and exercise a gentle coercion, with the most beneficial results, over the whole tenor of their character and nature.

A fewmore years, and time, youth's great dispoiler, wreaks its vengeance into the emaciated form of Father Walter. Standing on the outside of his simple, unpretentious home, encircled with meadow and field pure with the white mantle of winter, he admiringly gazes for the last time at the beautiful pine tree in the front yard, laden with the fleecy flakes of snow and glistening like a diamond as the rays of sunshine fall upon it. Inside, was quiet, cleanliness, thrift and comfort. I imagine there was the old clock that had welcomed in steady measure every newcomer to the family, that had ticked the solemn requiem of the dead, and had kept company with the watchers at the bedside. There were the big restful beds, and the old open fireplace, and the old family Bible, thumbed with the fingers of hands soon to be still and stained with the tears of eyes soon to be closed, holding the simple annals of the family, and the heart and the conscience of the home. Christian, the master of the home, now comes from the woods to his loved ones, the aged and perhaps trembling father, happy in the heart and home of his son, lays his hand down on the young man's shoulder, as they start to the house. And as they got to the door, the old mother came with the sunset falling fair on her face and lighting up her deep patient eyes, while with lips trembling with the rich music of her heart, she bade her husband and her son welcome to their home. Beyond was the house-wife busy with her household cares clean of heart and conscience, the buckler and help meet of her husband, trooping home after the cows, seeking, as truant birds do, the quiet of their home nest. And as we look on that picture, we see the night come down on that house, falling gently as from the wings of the unseen dove, and the old man, while a startled bird called from the forest, and the trees were shrill with the cricket's cry, and the stars were swarming in the sky, gathered the family around him, and taking the old Bible from the table called them to their knees, while he closed the record of that simple day by calling down God's benediction on his absent sons and daughters, on that family and that home. That night the rider on the "Pale Horse," and in the stillness of the morning hour, death broke the thread of life, and on the 23rd day of January, 1803, the spirit of Jacob Walter left the tenement of earthly clay. His age was seventy-four years and eighteen days. Weeping relatives and friends gathered round. Preparations for the funeral obsequies were made, and in a few days all that was earthly of Jacob Walter was laid to rest in Hassinger's cemetery. At the head of that sacred tomb, loved ones soon raised the first marble tablet in the cemetery, to perpetuate his memory. At the foot, some kindly hand planted an apple tree, whose spreading branches bending with the load of golden fruit continue to magnify the generous gifts of him who slumbers beneath their peaceful shade.

The character of Jacob Walter was that of a typical Christian German. His usefulness, though confined to the humble spheres of life, made bright the path of those who surrounded him. His courage was as firm and steadfast as the everlasting hills, and while his neighbors fled for safety from savage attack, Mr. Walter trusting in Divine aid, manfully stood his ground. At one time an alarm was circulated that the Indians would massacre the whites in this section. All the other settlers immediately left for the fort at Northumberland, but Mr. Walter being without a proper conveyance, and it being in harvest time, was unable to go. At this time he had four grown sons. After the settlers left, two of the boys were stationed to watch for Indians and sound the alarm if necessary, while the father and other two cut the grain. Upon the return of the settlers, Mr. Walter and sons were threatened a second time with a more certain death, since having escaped the tomahawk of the Indian, they were open to the suspicion of the settlers, who seeing they had escaped from savage brutality, believed that Mr. Walter had conspired with the Indians, who permitted them to harvest their grain while the neighbors were left destitute. Similar perils attended him for years, but with fearless tread, he kept boldly on, surmounting every obstacle

With the destruction of the forests came the glimmering rays of civilization. The country began to be more thickly populated. Young people became more sociable, because of more frequent opportunities presenting themselves for friendly intercourse with their neighbors. Plans were laid, suggestions made, decisions determined, and the conclusion attained is, that younger shoulders must assume the cares and responsibilities of pioneer life. The storms and hurricanes of many winters are rapidly revealing their painful tale in the silver tresses of father's head.

That frame once so erect is now stooped and bent. That step once so firm and elastic is now feeble and tottering. Mother, too, has a few more furrows engraved on that calm and noble brow. Her cares and labors for so large a family are too distressing. She needs more aid to lighten her burdens in the kitchen, at the wash tub and in the garden. Father also desires to lay off the responsibilities of the farm, to cease from its active management, and to repose in his declining years in comparative comfort and ease.

The manly sons, perceiving the fast approaching inevitable, determine to hasten the relief by assuming the burdens and cares of the parents. David, accordingly, speaks more affectionately to Susanna Everhart; John and Joseph hasten with lighter step to the Misses Kern; Philip pays closer attention to Miss Bowersox; Henry gayly climbs the wood-covered hills to the home of Miss Mertz; Jeremiah finds the Pearl of the Price's; Christian walks in living faith by the side of Miss Swartz; Jacob follows the course of the setting sun to Miss Lauver; and Michael caressingly clings to Miss Varick. Not content with the inroads already made in the Walter family, affection led Daniel Hassinger to seek the blushing Elizabeth, and Mr. Stroub the timid Mary. With the greatest joy each wedding day is announced, the nuptials in succession tied, the parental blessing bestowed, the land divided, and each son and daughter leave the home of so many joys and sorrows to carry to a higher state of cultivation his farm, which was the well-appointed gift of the father, and there rear their families in the beneficent atmosphere of personal freedom.

The pioneer fathers, perceiving the necessity of greater educational facilities than those afforded by the hearth and fireside, endeavored to establish a school. I imagine the undertaking to be no little difficulty since the children would be compelled to travel several miles to any central point among the few settlers. The idea was abandoned for awhile, and an improvised school held at a neighbor's house, but at last through the generosity of one Simmons, a tract of land, now owned by the Lutheran Church of the General Council, commonly known as Hassinger's Church, was devised for the erection thereon of school and church buildings as well as for the maintenance of the same. Probably, a good school having been established for the following season in some neighbor's house, the church building was the first to materialize on the devised lands. Jacob Walter, Mr. Hassinger and Mr. Maurer constituted a committee to superintend building of the log church situated on the exact site where the third (present) church now stands. Mr. Walter, living with Christian, to whose lot the old homestead fell, became oblivious to the duties of the farm and devoted the whole of his attention to the Church enterprise. Through unrelenting industry, the corner stone was laid. One log after another finds its appointed place upon the foundation. The sides gradually rise toward the heavens. The Church is completed, dedication day appointed, and one fine autumnal day, gathering in from many miles around, came a happy people, to dedicate to the worship of the Triune God the noblest monument of Christian evidence from Christian people.

until, at the end of life, he was able to write in glittering characters, " I have fought the fight, I have kept the faith and I have won the crown. "

IV. Philip (son of Jacob) married a Miss Bowersox; he received as his share of the estate the farm where Nathaniel Walter now lives. He has quite a number of children, but we have the names of only: Andrew and Sophia, (i) Andrew had the following children — Sophia (deceased), Hettie (who married Emanuel Walter), Susanna (wife of Moses Frey), and Nathaniel. (2) Sophia (daughter of Philip) married Jacob Bowersox, by whom she had the following children — Elizabeth (who married Joel Lose), Levi, Berneville, Harry, Jefferson, Edward and Amelia, the majority of whom are now residing in Ohio,

Doubtless from the many sources that information has been obtained concerning this remarkable family there are still many persons who claim the proud distinction of their connection to the Walter family. We would say that if any such there be, we have not purposely omitted you, and shall be pleased to have you notify us at your earliest opportunity. Suffice it to say that the posterity of Jacob Walter now numbers six generations, and from the seven generations in this country we look in pride to the sturdy yeomanry cultivating the fields of Snyder, to the thrifty merchants behind the counters, to the faithful operators at the electric key, to the honest business men behind the desk, and as we look, to-day, we hear coming from the corn shocks of Illinois, from the machine shops of Indiana, from the fertile sands of Michigan, and from the rolling plains of Ohio, the generous praises of sons and daughters proud in the name "Walter."

1914 History of DeKalb County, page 971, biographical sketch of Allen Wolf:
"Daniel and Mary (Walter) Wolf: the father was born November 23, 1808, in Columbiana county, Ohio, and died December 20, 1883. the mother was born January 30, 1820, in Union county, Pennsylvania, and died January 17, 1902. these parents came from Ashland county, Ohio, to Indiana, in the year 1850, being among the very earliest settlers. the subject's parents settled in Franklin township, near Franklin Center, at which time they were in very moderate financial circumstances, having but little ready money. Here the subject's father cleared his homestead entirely by his own efforts. to the subject's parents were born eight children, namely: Mrs. Melinda Myers, of Waterloo; Mrs. Amanda Myers, of Goshen, deceased; Andrew, also deceased; Mrs. Lucinda Hendricks, of White Pigeon, Michigan; Mrs. Matilda Rohrbaugh, of near Butler; Samuel, Allen and William, of Franklin township.

River Brethern is the possible religious affiliation.

trative direction. This company manufactures druggists' sundries, specialties, novelties and sponge rubber products, having practically a monopoly on the manufacture of the last named article in this country. The business has now gained extensive proportions under the capable management and direction of Mr. Miller, whose enterprise has made him one of the foremost business men of this city.

In his political views Mr. Miller is a stalwart republican, keeping well informed on the questions and issues of the day but never seeking nor desiring office for himself. His religious faith is indicated in his membership in the Dutch Reform church. He has made for himself an enviable reputation as a careful man of business, evincing the utmost concern in the conduct of the enterprise that its product may be all that is represented and that the business shall be carried on with the strictest regard to commercial integrity.

SAMUEL WALTER.

Samuel Walter, who is numbered among the successful, enterprising and representative agriculturists of Ashland county, is the owner of a well improved farm of one hundred acres on section 20, Green township. His birth occurred five miles west of Lockport, New York, on the 26th of August, 1833, his parents being Benjamin and Katharine (Shambaugh) Walter, who were natives of Pennsylvania but of German parentage. The paternal grandfather, Christian Walter, was born in Germany, as was also George Shambaugh, the maternal grandfather. Benjamin Walter, the father of our subject, brought his wife and six children to New York, in which state he carried on agricultural pursuits until the time of his demise, owning a valuable farm of one hundred and sixty acres. His death occurred when his son Samuel was but nineteen months old. His family numbered nine children, of whom eight reached years of maturity and were married, but Samuel Walter, of this review, is the only one who still survives. The mother was called to her final rest while a resident of Ashland county. (d. 1873)

In October, 1838, Samuel Walter was brought by his mother to Green township, Ashland county, and with the exception of the period of three and a half years following his marriage, which he spent in Knox county, he has lived here continuously since. In 1873 he took up his abode on the farm on which he has since resided, the place comprising one hundred acres on section 20, Green township, situated on the Perrysville and Wooster road, a mile and a half northeast of Perrysville. He cleared a part of this farm and made many improvements thereon, erected good buildings and equipped the place with all of the accessories and conveniences of a model farming property of the twentieth century. Throughout his active business career he has been engaged in farming and the success which has attended his efforts is but the well merited reward of earnest, persistent labor and indefatigable energy.

In 1855, Mr. Walter was united in marriage to Miss Judy Oaks, whose birth occurred in Pennsylvania, April 16, 1834, and who was brought to Tuscarawas county, Ohio, by her parents when only two years of age, there residing until the time of her marriage. Her parents, George and Mary Ann (Davis) Oaks, subsequently came to Ashland county and became neighbors of our subject, residing here until called to the home beyond. They were both natives of Pennsylvania and had a family of thirteen children, nine of whom grew to maturity. Unto Mr. and Mrs. Walter have been born seven children, namely: Amanda Ellen, the wife of Joseph Weirick, of Green township; Thomas Allen, who passed away at the age of four years; George, a resident of Loudonville, who formerly served as county commissioner; Thomas Curtis, of Green township; Nathaniel, who is likewise living in Green township; Sarah, the wife of Martin Oswalt, of Mansfield; Adaline, who died when sixteen years of age. Mr. Walter also has six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

History of Ashland Co. Ohio

Politically Mr. Walter is a stanch democrat and has served as road supervisor, while for twenty-one years he has acted as school director, the cause of education ever finding in him a stalwart champion. In religious faith he is a Lutheran, exemplifying the teachings of the church in his daily life. Although he has now passed the seventy-sixth milestone on life's journey, he is still numbered among the active and progressive citizens of the community and throughout the long period of his residence in this county, covering almost the Psalmist's allotted span of three score years and ten, he has gained the respect and esteem of an extensive circle of friends.

WILLIAM HENRY GATES.

William Henry Gates, of the Ashland Press, was born at Petersburg, now Mifflin, in Ashland county, Ohio, March 10, 1846. He is a grandson of Peter Gates, who was born in 1778. His father, Isaac Gates, was the second sheriff of Ashland county, to which position he was elected in 1848 and again in 1850. Two years afterward he was chosen county auditor, was reelected in 1856 and again served from 1862 until 1866. During his second term as sheriff his official duty required that he hang Charles Steingraver on the 30th of January, 1852, and on the 16th of May, 1885, he hung Horn and Gribben, so that the only men who suffered capital punishment in the county were hung by him although thirty-three years elapsed between the events. Isaac Gates was married to Miss Susan Newcomer, a daughter of Christian Newcomer, who served as county commissioner from 1849 until 1852. He also conducted a hotel in Petersburg during the stage-coach days.

W. H. Gates was a pupil in the Ashland schools between the years 1852 and 1857. The family then removed to the country and he attended the district schools in the winter months from 1857 until 1862, while in the summer seasons during that period he worked on the farm. He had no other educational opportunities but learned many lessons of value through actual business experiences on the farm and elsewhere. In the spring of 1863 he entered the auditor's office as clerk, his father having been elected county auditor in the fall of 1862. He was employed in the auditor's office and in other positions

Save Our History Museum

The American Association of Museums states the following: "Americans view museums as one of the most important resources for educating our children and as one of the most trustworthy sources of objective information."

"After their families, Americans rank authentic artifacts in history museums and historic sites as most significant in creating a strong connection with the past."

What can we as members of the De Kalb County Historical Society do to keep and maintain our History Center?

We can help in many ways including the following: keeping our membership current – purchasing a plaque – donating funds for specific needs of the museum – helping financially to start an endowment fund – remembering the museum in our wills – donating items for display – volunteering to help at the museum when open to the public – volunteering to help with displays and data entry – volunteering to be on a committee – have an interest in becoming a board member – electing board members who have positive outlooks and a vision for the society and the museum – promoting the museum and encouraging others to become members -- presenting ideas and making suggestions for programs and fund raising.

Most of all we need to maintain a positive attitude about the Society and the museum.

Biography of George H. Shultz, pages 632 / 633. History of De Kalb County, Indiana. Inter-State Publishing Company, Chicago, 1885.

George H. Shultz, deceased, was born in Union County, Pa., June 25, 1806, and died in Franklin Township, De Kalb County, Ind., Oct. 26, 2873. He was reared and educated in his native county, and when fifteen years of age began to learn the mason's trade, at which he worked at intervals all his life. He was married April 9, 1844, to Saloma Walters, a native of Union County, Pa., daughter of Benjamin Walter, who moved to Niagara County, N.Y., in the spring of 1828, and to Ashland County, Ohio, in the fall of 1838. To Mr. and Mrs. Shultz were born ten children eight of whom are living---Curtis, Allen, Shannon, Franklin, Rosanna, Arillie, Lewis and William. In September, 1853, they moved to De Kalb County, and settled on section 21, Franklin Township. A small patch of land was cleared on which was a small log cabin. Mr. Shultz was a hard-working, energetic man, and accumulated a good property.
He was a prominent, influential man, and held several offices of trust and responsibility; among others was Trustee of the township two terms and Constable three terms. He was a member of the Lutheran church as is also his wife.

Biography of Allen Shultz, page 632. History of De Kalb County, Indiana. Inter-State Publishing Company, Chicago, 1885.

Allen Shultz, section 21, Franklin Township, was born in Ashland County, Ohio, April 15, 1846. His father, George Shultz, was a native of Union County, Pa., and settled in Ashland County in 1835; thence in the fall of 1853 to De Kalb County. Here our subject was reared and educated. He learned the carpenter's trade in his youth and worked at it several years. From 1869 till 1875 he ran a threshing-machine during harvest. In the spring of 1876 he bought a portable steam saw-mill, which he ran three years. He then sold the mill, keeping the boiler and engine, and bought a new mill, which her ran, in company with his brother, Franklin, three years, when he sold it and bought the Taylor's Corners' mill, and moved it to his farm. This mill is of forty-five horse-power, with a capacity of 10,000 feet in ten hours. He cuts 250,000 feet of lumber annually. He owns sixty-four acres of valuable land and carries on farming in addition to running his mill. He was married Jan. 20, 1867, to Amanda Mann, daughter of Philip Mann, Sr., who was a soldier in the war of 1812 under General Harrison, and in 1842 settled in De Kalb County. To Mr. and Mrs. Shultz have been born eight children, six of whom are living---Henry, Della, Loma, Burton, Rhoba and Junie. Mr. Shultz has been a member of the Knights of Honor at Waterloo three years.

Allen Shultz, section 21, Franklin Township, was born in Ashland County, Ohio, April 15, 1846. His father, George Shultz, was a native of Union County, Pa., and settled in Ashland County in 1839; there in the fall of 1853 to De Kalb County. Here our subject was reared and educated. He learned the carpenter's trade in his youth and worked at it several years. From 1868 till 1875 he ran a threshing-machine during harvest. In the spring of 1876 he bought a portable steam saw-mill, which he ran three years. He then sold the mill, keeping the boiler and engine, and bought a new mill, which he ran, in company with his brother, Franklin, three years, when he sold it and bought the Taylor's Corners' mill, and moved it to his farm. This mill is of forty-five horse-power, with a capacity of 12,000 feet in ten hours. He cuts 250,000 feet of lumber annually. He owns sixty-four acres of valuable land and carries on farming in addition to running his mill. He was married Jan. 20, 1867, to Amanda Mann, daughter of Philip Mann, Sr., who was a soldier in the war of 1812 under General Harrison, and in 1842 settled in De Kalb County. To Mr. and Mrs. Shultz have been born eight children, six of whom are living—Henry, Della Loma, Burton, Rhoda and Junia. Mr. Shultz has been a member of the Knights of Honor at Waterloo three years.

1914 History of DeKalb County, page 971, biographical sketch of Allen Wolf:
"Daniel and Mary (Walter) Wolf: the father was born November 23, 1808, in Columbiana county, Ohio, and died December 20, 1883. the mother was born January 30, 1820, in Union county, Pennsylvania, and died January 17, 1902. these parents came from Ashland county, Ohio, to Indiana, in the year 1850, being among the very earliest settlers. the subject's parents settled in Franklin township, near Franklin Center, at which time they were in very moderate financial circumstances, having but little ready money. Here the subject's father cleared his homestead entirely by his own efforts. to the subject's parents were born eight children, namely: Mrs. Melinda Myers, of Waterloo; Mrs. Amanda Myers, of Goshen, deceased; Andrew, also deceased; Mrs. Lucinda Hendricks, of White Pigeon, Michigan;Mrs. Matilda Rohrbaugh, of near Butler; Samuel, Allen and William, of Franklin township

Save Our History Museum

The American Association of Museums states the following: "Americans view museums as one of the most important resources for educating our children and as one of the most trustworthy sources of objective information."

"After their families, Americans rank authentic artifacts in history museums and historic sites as most significant in creating a strong connection with the past."

What can we as members of the De Kalb County Historical Society do to keep and maintain our History Center?

We can help in many ways including the following: keeping our membership current – purchasing a plaque – donating funds for specific needs of the museum – helping financially to start an endowment fund – remembering the museum in our wills – donating items for display – volunteering to help at the museum when open to the public – volunteering to help with displays and data entry – volunteering to be on a committee – have an interest in becoming a board member – electing board members who have positive outlooks and a vision for the society and the museum – promoting the museum and encouraging others to become members -- presenting ideas and making suggestions for programs and fund raising.

Most of all we need to maintain a positive attitude about the Society and the museum.

Hassinger's "White" Church

A ledger at the Snyder County Historical Society contains a history of the church written about 1800. Baptismal records date back to 1760 - making this the oldest congregation in the area, dating to pre-Revolutionary times. A converted Jew, Joseph Simons, donated the land for a church and cemetery. Johann Jacob Hassinger, Johann Jacob Walter and a Mr. Maurer were the committee that oversaw the building of the church. The building takes its name from Jacob Hassinger, but Jacob Walter who had worship services held in his home whenever a clergyman was in the area spent much of his time overseeing construction of the building.

1798 church - Drawing by Aaron Kern Gift

The original church, erected in 1785, was a log building. During the existence of this house of worship, the Indians were still numerous in the neighborhood. The ledger reads in part "During these times the Red Man of the maiden forests and the mountains of these wild regions would at times prowl around this log house watching these early worshipers of the Great Spirit." In 1791, preparations were made to erect a new, larger church to accommodate the increased membership. A huge square building with high log walls, finished inside in European style, was built a little to the south-west of the log cabin church. In 1872, the members again decided to build a new church. They tore down the old two-story Gallery church. Using much of the old material, they built the third church on the same spot where the former church stood.

Hassinger's Church today. The hill behind the church leads up to a ridge. The hill was named Cemetery Hill by the early settlers. Across the road in front of the church is a line of trees that are called the Long Hollow - home of Johann Jacob Hassinger and later his son, Abraham Hassinger who migrated to Richland County, Ohio in 1825.

Description:

This database details those persons enumerated in the 1800 United States Federal Census. In addition, the names of those listed on the population schedule are linked to the actual images of the 1800 Federal Census, copied from the National Archives and Records Administration microfilm, M32, 52 rolls. (If you do not initially find the name on the page that you are linked to, try a few pages forward or backward, as sometimes different pages had the same page number.)

Enumerators of the 1800 census were asked to include the following categories in the census: name of head of household, number of free white males and females in age categories: 0 to 10, 10 to 16, 16 to 26, 26 to 45, 45 and older; number of other free persons except Indians not taxed; number of slaves; and town or

Enumerators of the 1790 census were asked to include the following categories in the census: name of head of household, number of free white males of sixteen years and older, number of free white males under sixteen years, number of free white females, number of all other free persons, number of slaves, and sometimes town or district of residence. The categories allowed Congress to determine persons residing in the United States for collection of taxes and the appropriation of seats in the House of Representatives. This first United States census schedules differs in format from later census material, as each enumerator was expected to make his own copies on whatever paper he could find. Save Our History Museum

The American Association of Museums states the following: "Americans view museums as one of the most important resources for educating our children and as one of the most trustworthy sources of objective information."

"After their families, Americans rank authentic artifacts in history museums and historic sites as most significant in creating a strong connection with the past."

What can we as members of the De Kalb County Historical Society do to keep and maintain our History Center?

We can help in many ways including the following: keeping our membership current – purchasing a plaque – donating funds for specific needs of the museum – helping financially to start an endowment fund – remembering the museum in our wills – donating items for display – volunteering to help at the museum when open to the public – volunteering to help with displays and data entry – volunteering to be on a committee – have an interest in becoming a board member – electing board members who have positive outlooks and a vision for the society and the museum – promoting the museum and encouraging others to become members -- presenting ideas and making suggestions for programs and fund raising.

Most of all we need to maintain a positive attitude about the Society and the museum.

Description:
This database details those persons enumerated in the 1790 United States Federal Census. In addition, the names of those listed on the population schedule are linked to the actual images of the 1790 Federal Census, copied from the National Archives and Records Administration microfilm, M637, 12 rolls.

Enumerators of the 1790 census were asked to include the following categories in the census: name of head of household, number of free white males of sixteen years and older, number of free white males under sixteen years, number of free white females, number of all other free persons, number of slaves, and sometimes town or district of residence. The categories allowed Congress to determine persons residing in the United States for collection of taxes and the appropriation of seats in the House of Representatives. This first United States census schedules differs in format from later census material, as each enumerator was

Description:

This database details those persons enumerated in the 1800 United States Federal Census. In addition, the names of those listed on the population schedule are linked to the actual images of the 1800 Federal Census, copied from the National Archives and Records Administration microfilm, M32, 52 rolls. (If you do not initially find the name on the page that you are linked to, try a few pages forward or backward, as sometimes different pages had the same page number.)

Enumerators of the 1800 census were asked to include the following categories in the census: name of head of household, number of free white males and females in age categories: 0 to 10, 10 to 16, 16 to 26, 26 to 45, 45 and older; number of other free persons except Indians not taxed; number of slaves; and town or of household, number of free white males and females in age categories: 0 to 10, 10 to 16, 16 to 26, 26 to 45, 45 and older; number of other free persons except Indians not taxed; number of slaves; and town or district and county of residence. The categories allowed Congress to determine persons residing in the United States for collection of taxes and the appropriation of seats in the House of Representatives. Most entries are arranged in the order of visitation, but some have been rearranged to appear in alphabetical order by initial letter of the surname.

Few, if any, records reveal as many details about individuals and families as do the U.S. federal censuses. The population schedules are successive "snapshots" of Americans that depict where and how they were living at particular periods in the past. Because of this, the census is often the best starting point for genealogical research after home sources have been exhausted.

Extended Description:

The United States was the first country to call for a regularly held census. The Constitution required that a census of all "Persons...excluding Indians not taxed" be performed to determine the collection of taxes and the appropriation of seats in the House of Representatives. The first nine censuses from 1790-1870 were organized under the United States Federal Court system. Each district was assigned a U.S. marshal who hired other marshals to administer the census. Governors were responsible for enumeration in territories.

The official enumeration day of the 1800 census was 4 August 1800. All questions asked were supposed to refer to that date. The enumeration was to be completed within nine months. Schedules survive for 13 states. Lost schedules include those for Georgia, Indiana Territory, Kentucky, Mississippi Territory, New Jersey, Northwest Territory, Virginia, Tennessee, and Alexandria County, District of Columbia. Some of the schedules for these states have been re-created using tax lists and other records.

county, Ohio, by her parents when only two years of age, there residing until the time of her marriage. Her parents, George and Mary Ann (Davis) Oaks, subsequently came to Ashland county and became neighbors of our subject, residing here until called to the home beyond. They were both natives of Pennsylvania and had a family of thirteen children, nine of whom grew to maturity. Unto Mr. and Mrs. Walter have been born seven children, namely: Amanda Ellen, the wife of Joseph Weirick, of Green township; Thomas Allen, who passed away at the age of four years; George, a resident of Londonville, who formerly served as county commissioner; Thomas Curtis, of Green township; Nathaniel, who is likewise living in Green township; Sarah, the wife of Martin Oswalt, of Mansfield; Adaline, who died when sixteen years of age. Mr. Walter also has six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Politically Mr. Walter is a stanch democrat and has served as road supervisor, while for twenty-one years he has acted as school director, the cause of education ever finding in him a stalwart champion. In religious faith he is a Lutheran, exemplifying the teachings of the church in his daily life. Although he has now passed the seventy-sixth milestone on life's journey, he is still numbered among the active and progressive citizens of the community and throughout the long period of his residence in this county, covering almost the Psalmist's allotted span of three score years and ten, he has gained the respect and esteem of an extensive circle of friends.

WILLIAM HENRY GATES.

William Henry Gates, of the Ashland Press, was born at Petersburg, now Mifflin, in Ashland county, Ohio, March 10, 1846. He is a grandson of Peter Gates, who was born in 1778. His father, Isaac Gates, was the second sheriff of Ashland county, to which position he was elected in 1848 and again in 1850. Two years afterward he was chosen county auditor, was reelected in 1856 and again served from 1862 until 1866. During his second term as sheriff his official duty required that he hang Charles Steingraver on the 30th of January, 1852, and on the 16th of May, 1885, he hung Horn and Gribben, so that the only men who suffered capital punishment in the county were hung by him although thirty-three years elapsed between the events. Isaac Gates was married to Miss Susan Newcomer, a daughter of Christian Newcomer, who served as county commissioner from 1849 until 1852. He also conducted a hotel in Petersburg during the stage-coach days.

W. H. Gates was a pupil in the Ashland schools between the years 1852 and 1857. The family then removed to the country and he attended the district schools in the winter months from 1857 until 1862, while in the summer seasons during that period he worked on the farm. He had no other educational opportunities but learned many lessons of value through actual business experiences on the farm and elsewhere. In the spring of 1863 he entered the auditor's office as clerk, his father having been elected county auditor in the fall of 1862. He was employed in the auditor's office and in other positions

SAMUEL WALTER.

Samuel Walter, who is numbered among the successful, enterprising and representative agriculturists of Ashland county, is the owner of a well improved farm of one hundred acres on section 30, Green township. His birth occurred five miles west of Lockport, New York, on the 26th of August, 1813, his parents being Benjamin and Katherine (Shambaugh) Walter, who were natives of Pennsylvania but of German parentage. The paternal grandfather, Christian Walter, was born in Germany, as was also George Shambaugh, the maternal grandfather. Benjamin Walter, the father of our subject, brought his wife and six children to New York, in which state he carried on agricultural pursuits until the time of his decease, owning a valuable farm of one hundred and sixty acres. His death occurred when his son Samuel was but sixteen months old. His family numbered nine children, of whom eight reached years of maturity and were married, but Samuel Walter, of this review, is the only one who still survives. The mother was called to her final rest while a resident of Ashland county.

In October, 1838, Samuel Walter was brought by his mother to Green township, Ashland county, and with the exception of the period of three and a half years following his marriage, which he spent in Knox county, he has lived here continuously since. In 1873 he took up his abode on the farm on which he has since resided, the place comprising one hundred acres on section 30, Green township, situated on the Perrysville and Wooster road, a mile and a half northeast of Perrysville. He cleared a part of this farm and made many improvements thereon, erected good buildings and equipped the place with all of the accessories and conveniences of a model farming property of the twentieth century. Throughout his active business career he has been engaged in farming and the success which has attended his efforts is but the well merited reward of earnest, persistent labor and indefatigable energy.

In 1855, Mr. Walter was united in marriage to Miss Judy Oaks, whose birth occurred in Pennsylvania, April 16, 1834, and who was brought to Tuscarawas

The business has now gained extensive proportions under the capable management and direction of Mr. Miller, whose enterprise has made him one of the foremost business men of this city.

In his political views Mr. Miller is a stalwart republican, keeping well informed on the questions and issues of the day but never seeking nor desiring office for himself. His religious faith is indicated in his membership in the Dutch Reform church. He has made for himself an enviable reputation as a careful man of business, evincing the utmost concern in the conduct of the enterprise that in product may be all that is represented and that the business shall be carried on with the strictest regard to commercial integrity.

Deed of Gift

Everyday Language Translation

By signing this, I give and deliver my object forever and with no conditions to the Museum. I give the museum all rights to the object. These rights include the right to publish pictures of it for sale or use. I also say that I did own the object and had the right to give it to the museum.

I agree that the object will become the property of only the Museum. The Museum will manage it in an ethical, professional way. The Museum can use it or dispose (trade or give it away) of it in any way they want, following the Museum's policies.

county, Ohio, by her parents when only two years of age, there residing until the time of her marriage. Her parents, George and Mary Ann (Darke) Oaks, subsequently came to Ashland county and became neighbors of our subject, residing here until called to the home beyond. They were both natives of Pennsylvania and had a family of thirteen children, nine of whom grew to maturity. Unto Mr. and Mrs. Walter have been born seven children, namely: Amanda Ellen, the wife of Joseph Wetrick, of Green township; Thomas Allen, who passed away at the age of four years; George, a resident of Loudonville, who formerly served as county commissioner; Thomas Curtis, of Green township; Nathaniel, who is likewise living in Green township; Sarah, the wife of Martin Oswalt, of Mansfield; Adaline, who died when sixteen years of age. Mr. Walter also has six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Politically Mr. Walter is a stanch democrat and has served as road supervisor, while for twenty-one years he has acted as school director, the cause of education ever finding in him a stalwart champion. In religious faith he is a Lutheran, exemplifying the teachings of the church in his daily life. Although he has now passed the seventy-sixth milestone on life's journey, he is still numbered among the active and progressive citizens of the community and throughout the long period of his residence in this county, covering almost the Psalmist's allotted span of three score years and ten, he has gained the respect and esteem of an extensive circle of friends.

WILLIAM HENRY GATES.

William Henry Gates, of the Ashland Press, was born at Petersburg, now Mifflin, in Ashland county, Ohio, March 10, 1846. He is a grandson of Peter Gates, who was born in 1778. His father, Isaac Gates, was the second sheriff of Ashland county, to which position he was elected in 1843 and again in 1850. Two years afterward he was chosen county auditor, was reelected in 1856 and again served from 1862 until 1866. During his second term as sheriff his official duty required that he hang Charles Seelngraver on the 30th of January, 1852, and on the 16th of May, 1885, he hung Horn and Gridden, so that the only men who suffered capital punishment in the county were hung by him although thirty-three years elapsed between the events. Isaac Gates was married to Miss Susan Newcomer, a daughter of Christian Newcomer, who served as county commissioner from 1840 until 1853. He also conducted a hotel in Petersburg during the stage-coach days.

W. H. Gates was a pupil in the Ashland schools between the years 1852 and 1857. The family then removed to the country and he attended the district schools in the winter months from 1857 until 1862, while in the summer seasons during that period he worked on the farm. He had no other educational opportunities but learned many lessons of value through actual business experience on the farm and elsewhere. In the spring of 1863 he entered the auditor's office as clerk, his father having been elected county auditor in the fall of 1862. He was employed in the auditor's office and in other positions
